ANDREA WALKER

SNAPSHOT

It was clear Andrea Walker was destined to be a professional organizer when she was just 8 years old and convinced her best friend to move their desks into the coat area of their classroom because of all the great organizing possibilities: hooks, shelves, and great wall space.

Since 2010, Andrea has been transforming her client's lives by giving them: less stress, more time, and happier lives.

Andrea holds the coveted Certified Professional Organizer (CPO®) designation and believes in helping more than clients—she has served eight terms on the Board of Directors at the Northern New Jersey chapter of the National Association of Productivity and Organizing Professionals (NAPO), including Chapter President from 2015-2017.

BIO

Certified Professional Organizer® Andrea Walker specializes in offering sanity-saving solutions to keep you on track before, during, and after your move. With her proprietary SmartMove™ system her team will declutter, organize, and stage your home for a quick and profitable sale and then make your new house a home in as little as one day.

She is a member of the National Association of Productivity and Organizing Professionals ("NAPO"), and the National Association of Senior and Specialty Move Managers ("NASMM").

Andrea has been quoted in various publications including Oprah Magazine and Apartment Therapy, appeared on the TV show "Hoarders: Buried Alive," and she was interviewed on NBC's home improvement show "HouseSmartsTV" where her work was featured in a segment.

A native of Connecticut, Andrea lives with her husband Kevin, two children, and their dog in a smartly organized home in Chatham, New Jersey. Her work frequently takes her back to her old stomping grounds of NYC and Park Slope, Brooklyn where she lived for over 15 years.
